This is where east meets west the place the whole world looks to, the home of time itself, and the site of our Greenwich Campus. So, let us open your eyes, to one of the grandest university settings in the world.

On the banks of the River Thames, within easy reach of the vibrant city of London, stands this World Heritage site. With its stunning Baroque architecture it rivals Oxford and Cambridge. It's home to many magnificent buildings, like Christopher Wren's painted gallery, where thousands of our students graduate each year. It's seen the start of many success stories.

Surrounded by the past, you'll shape your future in one of our first class Schools: Business, Computing & Mathematical Sciences, Humanities & Social Sciences, and the Greenwich Maritime Institute. There's no wonder top students from over 140 countries around the world are attracted to walk through our doors.

From the Royal Observatory you can see Canary Wharf directly opposite, so it's no wonder we have such strong links with the business world. Entrepreneurs, politicians, musicians, actors. Even a Nobel Prize winner. They've all started out on their road to success – right here.

Our historic buildings are also home to modern facilities, the latest innovative resources, state-of-the-art CISCO systems, a brand new TV studio, well-stocked library, and modern art gallery.

Make time to put down your books and you'll discover there's plenty to see and do, on campus. Shops and cafes, clubs and societies. Greenwich is also an exciting and vibrant place to live. A bustling market, a wide variety of bars and restaurants, arts and culture, sports and fitness – everything. And all the latest bands at the O2 Arena just down the road. Plus, the iconic sights of London and all it has to offer are all within easy reach. By bus, train or secret tunnel.
